What's My Scrap Car Worth?

The worth of a Scrap Car depends on the current market conditions. The price for steel is typically the determining factor of the worth of your vehicle in scrap.

Some scrap yards will pay you more than just the weight of the vehicle if they find value in reselling parts from your vehicle.

You can expect to get anywhere from $100 and up to $1000 for a typical old car. Sometimes the value can go into thousands for newer models.

What is Scrap Car Value?

There are scrap yards that buy cars just for the steel and then there are salvage yards or auto wreckers which will buy the vehicle for parts resale.

Each of those entities will value your car differently. It makes sense to deal with a Licensed Auto Recycling Company to ensure you get the best value for your scrap car and to be at peace about the vehicle's resting place being environmentally friendly

How To Scrap Car Without Title?

If you don't have the ownership of the vehicle, it may be a challenging process, but there's always a solution.

You may apply for a replacement ownership with Service Ontario. At the time of this publication the cost of replacement is $32 and must be done by the owner of the vehicle in person.

How To Know When To Scrap A Car?

Oftentimes you will find spending a lot of money on repairing your vehicle. It seems that once you fix one thing, the next thing breaks down. If this is your situation, you may want to consider scrapping your car. Check out this helpful article about When To Scrap Your Car

Where Do You Scrap A Car?

Where is a good Scrap Yard Near Me

Start by researching your local Scrap Yards. A few things you may want to consider:

Make sure the scrap yard is licensed with the Ministry of Environment

Ensure they provide a payment for your vehicle in cash

Free towing of your vehicle from your business or home is a must

Call the Scrap Yard and talk to their representatives. Good companies have a "good feel" about them.

Can You Scrap A Car With A Lien?

If you have a lien on the vehicle, it most likely means that you owe money to a financing or leasing company.

Sometimes unpaid mechanic bill can result in a lien being placed on your vehicle.

Whatever your situation is, you must ensure that you clear the lien on your vehicle before scrapping it. Whether this means paying off the loan or getting a permission from the financing company to scrap the vehicle, the end goal is the same - clearing the lien from the vehicle title (ownership).

Sometimes if the owed amount is small and you make a promise to the bank to pay it off, they will provide you with a letter allowing you to dispose of the vehicle.
